

Floating Reservoir Cover Sierra Army Depot Herlong, CA

Telesto was sub-consulted by Sierra Geosynthetic Systems to design a floating flexible membrane cover for a domestic water storage reservoir. The floating cover was designed to isolate treated water from contamination from wildlife or airborne sources at a varying depth of storage. A system was provided to remove meteoric water. Plans and specifications were developed and implemented. The project was successful, on time, and under budget.

